"THE QUEST FOR KNOWLEDGE"

"The Quest For Knowledge," a pageant, presented by the senior class of the Scotland Neck High School Tuesday afternoon on the school campus, was both unique and beautiful.

The assembling of the knights and ladies at the trumpet's call, the scene as they gathered around their lovely queen in their colorful costumes, under the greenwood tree, made a picture not soon to be forgotten.

Attractive and pleasing, too, was the program rendered. The salutation was given gracefully and well by "Lady Lois Speed." The class historian, "Lady Dolphia Staton," recited in a capable way the past of the illustrious class of 1922. The prophecy, which delighted the audience, was wittily presented by "Lady Charlotte Moore," while the poem was given by "Lady Virginia White." To "Lady Sarah Purrington" was left the sad task of saying farewell, but her valedictory was spoken so beautifully that nobody was plunged into gloom.

Charming features of the entertainment were the dances of the wood nymphs, Margaret Neblett and Lillian Wheeler, and the jolly dance, "A Merry Life," given by the junior class girls. The class choruses were all tuneful and pleasing, particularly the "Finale," by the High School chorus.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever," and the exercises of the class of 1922 will be long remembered.
